Hi Kim,

I sent the Councillor a message five minutes ago since I was conveniently listening to Planning Committee when he mentioned it.

NCRCC was already aware – from Kelly: We have heard that someone replied to the Pat King facebook live on social media post when he was circling Aviation that "you should circle schools too". He replied that it was a good idea but it was just reported as a comment in his feed. No organized event has been identified but intel is closely monitoring.

I'll flag the RA centre piece to NCRCC and EOC as well.

Thanks,
Joanna

We have been informed of online threats to schools today. Can you please inform us with whatever information is available?

Also, just received this message that the RA Centre in Capital Ward is now being used as an occupation staging area. I am speaking with them.

Just received this email from the RA. Unfortunately disruptions in this part of the city seem inevitable.

Dear RA Members;

« We have become aware, through the media and social media posts that the RA has been identified as an unsanctioned staging location for the Trucker Convoy (being called the Blue-Collar Convoy). This unauthorized activity has precipitated us to take the extraordinary measure of CLOSING and securing the RA Centre and property on Saturday, February 12 and Sunday, February 13. Regular RA programs, activities and services will resume on Monday, February 14. (There will be no access to the RA Centre or property as of 11:30pm Friday, February 11 until the regularly scheduled opening time on Monday, February 14.)

Please know that this decision was taken with great care and concern for the safety and security of members, volunteers and staff.

This is a very fluid situation, your understanding and patience are greatly appreciated. »

Mayor and Members of Council,

There are currently minimal protesters on Parliament Hill and only small pockets within the surrounding streets. There were no major incidents yesterday. There were about 100 demonstrators in the Wellington corridor and approximately 400 vehicles in the red zone yesterday. Roads staff, as well as Ottawa Fire Services, supported Police in the removal of a small encampment that had been set up on private property on Metcalfe Street, near Slater Street.

Police facilitated the departure of 6-7 trucks yesterday afternoon and also continued to conduct fuel seizures, when it was safe to do so. To date, Police have laid 23 charges in relation to the demonstration and issued approximately 1,300 tickets. There are an additional 85 criminal offence investigations that are ongoing. Several vehicles have been seized and towed, including one stolen truck and an abandoned vehicle in a roadway.

The Ottawa Police Service is actively working with Canadian, U.S. and international security agencies to investigate email-based threats to public officials. Images of potential suspects are being released to the public, including those in connection to an attempted arson in the downtown core. The Police continue to collect financial, digital, vehicle registration, driver identification, insurance status, and other related evidence that will be used in criminal prosecutions.

The Police are receiving a significant number of requests on a broad range of topics. The Ottawa Police Service is working hard to respond to all of these requests, including through taskings to the Police Liaison Teams, as appropriate.

Remember that any hate-motivated incidents can be reported to the police at 613-236-1222 ext. 5015, and any criminal offences directly related to the demonstrations can be reported to 613-236-1222 ext. 7300. Reports can also be made online at ottawapolice.ca. Police are investigating all reports. The Councillor Liaison role has been put into place to help you with any inquiries.

Inquiries related to City service impacts and requests for By-law enforcement, please visit ottawa.ca/311 or call 3-1-1.

By-Law issued 154 tickets yesterday mainly for No Parking and No Stopping, bringing the total tickets issued in and around the red zone since January 28 to 1,218. No vehicles have been towed from the red zone to date.

The Province approved an increase in the set fine for certain relevant offences under the Noise By-law (2017-255), Use and Care of Roads By-law (2003-498) and Open Air Fire By-law (2004-163) to the maximum amount of $1,000 ($1,130 with the victim surcharge) permitted under the Provincial Offences Act.

By-Law Services will be submitting the same request for an increase in the set fine for certain relevant offences under the Idling Control By-law (2007-266) following the City Council amendment reducing the temperature prescribed in the by-law from five degrees Celsius to -15 degrees Celsius, applicable only to the demonstration areas.

Monsieur le Maire et chers membres du Conseil,

Il y a actuellement un nombre minime de manifestants sur la colline du Parlement et seulement de petits groupes dans les rues environnantes. Il n'y a eu aucun incident majeur hier. Hier, il y avait environ 100 manifestants dans le couloir de la rue Wellington et environ 400 véhicules dans la zone rouge. Le personnel des Services des routes, de même que le Service des incendies d'Ottawa, ont aidé la police à retirer un petit campement qui avait été installé sur une propriété privée de la rue Metcalfe, près de la rue Slater.

La police a facilité le départ de 6 à 7 camions hier après-midi et a continué à effectuer des saisies de carburant, lorsqu'il était sécuritaire de le faire. À ce jour, la police a porté 23 accusations en lien avec la manifestation et a émis environ 1 300 contraventions. Il y a également 85 enquêtes sur des infractions criminelles en cours. Plusieurs véhicules ont été saisis et remorqués, dont un camion volé et un véhicule abandonné sur une route.

Le Service de police d'Ottawa travaille activement avec les agences de sécurité canadiennes, américaines et internationales pour enquêter sur les menaces par courrier visant des fonctionnaires. Des images de suspects potentiels sont diffusées au public, y compris les images de suspects qui se rapportent à une tentative d'incendie criminel dans le centre-ville. La police continue de recueillir des preuves financières, numériques, d'immatriculation des véhicules, d'identification des conducteurs, d'assurance et d'autres éléments de preuve connexes qui seront utilisés dans les poursuites pénales.

Le Service de police d'Ottawa reçoit un nombre important de demandes sur un large éventail de sujets. Il travaille sans relâche pour répondre à toutes ces demandes, notamment en y affectant, s'il y a lieu, les équipes de liaison du Service de police.

Nous vous rappelons que tout incident motivé par la haine peut être signalé à la police en composant le 613-236-1222, poste 5015 et toute infraction criminelle en lien direct avec les manifestations peut être signalée au 613-236-1222, poste 7300. Les signalements peuvent également être effectués en ligne à ottawapolice.ca. Tous les signalements font l'objet d'une enquête par la police. Le rôle de responsable de la liaison avec le Conseil a été mis en place pour aider à répondre à demandes de renseignements.

En ce qui a trait aux demandes de renseignements liées aux répercussions sur les services municipaux et aux demandes d'application des règlements, veuillez consulter ottawa.ca/311 ou composer le 3-1-1.

Les Services des règlements municipaux ont émis 154 contraventions hier principalement liées au non-respect des panneaux de stationnement interdit et d'arrêt interdit, portant le total des contraventions émises dans la zone rouge et autour de celle-ci depuis le 28 janvier à 1 218. Aucun véhicule n'a été remorqué de la zone rouge jusqu'à présent.

La province a approuvé une augmentation de l'amende fixée pour certaines infractions pertinentes en vertu du Règlement sur le bruit (2017-255), du Règlement municipal sur l'utilisation et l'entretien des routes (2003-498) et du Règlement sur les feux en plein air (2004-163) jusqu'au montant maximal de 1 000 $ (1 130 $ avec la suramende compensatoire pour les victimes) permis en vertu de la Loi sur les infractions provinciales.

Les Services des règlements municipaux présenteront la même demande d'augmentation de l'amende fixée pour certaines infractions pertinentes en vertu du Règlement sur la marche au ralenti (2007-266) à la suite de la modification apportée par le Conseil municipal réduisant la température prescrite dans le règlement administratif de cinq degrés Celsius à -15 degrés Celsius, applicable uniquement aux zones de la manifestation.
